T113—TYPES OF NATIONS

1 1/2 by 2 1/2 inches • 41mm by 70mm
Series of 50 cards • Card value: $2

One of the most common of all tobacco issues, this series consists of head-and-shoulders portraits of men in native garb representing 50 countries or regions of the world. The background in each picture shows supposedly representative scenery for that man's region, although it appears that one artist drew all of the pictures, using only a handful of models. Many of the men, representing widely different locales, look suspiciously similar, particularly in the shape of the eyes and eyebrows.

Although very straightforward as far as the fronts go, the series has a large number of back variations. There are two main types of backs. The first type consists of backs with ads for multiple brands and has no frame line around the text. Two variations of this type can be found: one with an ad for nine different brands and one with an ad for 13 different brands. The second type consists of backs with ads for single brands (Jack Rose, Recruit, Scrap Iron Scrap, Sub Rosa

Cigars, Sweet Caporal Little Cigars, and Sweet Caporal Tobacco Wrappers all with a thin double frame line around the text. To further complicate matters, many of these variations can be found in different back colors, and six factories were involved in producing this series. Some brands and colors can be found with more than one factory number. The 13 brand backs, for example, can be found in three colors (black, blue, and red), and the black backs were produced at four different factories. In all there are at least 28 different backs—and probably more. Further details are contained in the summary section.

The set also was distributed in quantity in wax-paper packages and also as an anonymous numbered issue (WTI# ZB4-34). The last date on the cards is June 30, 1910, so the series was probably issued sometime later in 1910 or in 1911.

Fronts: All of the fronts show a head-and-shoulders portrait of a man in the native garb of the featured country with
